CALL TO STATE DEMOCRATS

BIG MEETING TO BE HELD TO PLAN THE CAMPAIGN

Representative Democrats From All Parts of the State Will Be Invited; Also State Committeemen, County Chairmen and Democratic Mayors.

ALBANY, July 23.—As a result of the conference held at Saratoga last night by the Democratic State executive committee a big meeting of representative Democrats from all parts of the State will be called by State Chairman John A. Dix for the first week in September. The meeting will be for the purpose of having the State committee, the executive committee, the county chairmen and the thirty Democratic Mayors of the State assemble and discuss plans for the conduct of the campaign, the platform and other essentials, in order that a definite programme might be decided upon before the State convention.

The meeting was discussed at the conference last night, and Chairman Dix said the idea met with such general approval that he felt confident the proposed meeting would be an immense success.

The executive committee concluded its conference at 1 o'clock this morning after enjoying the hospitality of Chairman Dix at a dinner at the Grand Union. Chairman Dix later announced that he would call a meeting of the Democratic State committee early in August for the purpose of fixing the time and the place for holding the next Democratic State convention.

The State committee, Chairman Dix said last night, would meet in Albany. Meanwhile the executive committee will meet and decide upon the time and the place for holding the general meeting, which will likely be held in New York city. All but half a dozen members of the executive committee attended the conference. Several of the committee are abroad. They will be back in time, however, to lend their efforts to the cause. National Committeeman Norman E. Mack of Buffalo drifted in and said he never felt more confident of Democratic success. He assured the executive committee of his hearty support and cooperation.

Col. Alexander Hays, who took a prominent part in the meeting of the progressive Democrats at Albany on July 4 last, was at Saratoga with Congressman Sulzer and announced freely that the Congressman was an out and out candidate for the gubernatorial nomination. But all the talk of gubernatorial honors was had in the corridors of the Grand Union. The conference itself was devoted wholly to a discussion of details looking toward a campaign of activity which is expected to surpass any fight for success that the Democratic party has waged in years.

It was decided to divide the executive committee into sub-committees of two and three, and that these sub-committees should accompany Chairman Dix on a tour of the State at their convenience.

Leader Charles F. Murphy of Tammany Hall said that Tammany Hall had to candidate for governor. He said to his friends, he told his friends, to have Tammany control the State convention, getting the most available man, and while the beams of Thomas M. Osborne, a Congressman Sulzer and others were being called about generally. Mr. Murphy was understood to have been decided to have a conference with the Democratic State League and the Progressive Democratic

FIGHT FOR MCCOY.

Brooklyn Leader Will Have a Hot Primary Battle in His Own Backyard.

John H. McCoy, leader of the Democratic organization in Brooklyn, is confronted with a formidable revolt against his political supremacy in his own Assembly district, the Eighteenth, which comprises the extensive Flatbush part of the borough.

John F. Dwyer is the leader of the anti-McCoy forces and he is already rallying them for a stubborn battle at the September primaries. He is banking on the active support of Alfred E. Steers, President of the Borough who is an opponent in the big Dwyer association, and other influential Democrats, some of whom were enlisted under the McCarron standard in the old factional strife. It is alleged that much opposition has been developed against McCoy through his failure to land any patronage for the faithful workers in the district and that McCoy virtually lost his political pull when he was ousted from his job in the Finance Department and Comptroller Prendergast took charge.

It is generally assumed that in case of his defeat at the primary McCoy would be dropped from the county leadership. In addition to the Eighteenth there will be at least six or seven hot primary battles in the Democratic ranks this year, but it is only in his own district so far that McCoy's leadership is directly involved.

PREPARING TO CRY FRAUD.

Force of Detectives to Watch Herkimer Primaries in Robinson's Interest.

UTICA, July 23.—The so-called insurgents among Herkimer county Republicans, led by Theodore Douglas Robinson, who is fighting to wrest control from State Committeeman Strobel and incidentally to win a Congressional nomination for himself, fear crooked work may be attempted in the primaries next week and have made their plans to prevent irregularities.

It was said to-day that a large force of detectives will be in evidence in Herkimer county during the first part of next week, and they will remain until after the caucus next Thursday for the purpose of seeing what methods are used and to make arrests in case of election frauds.

Large placards inscribed with the words "Shall Boss Dan Strobel Rule?" are being posted throughout the county. At every cross road and other available places in the county the voters within the next two days will have opportunity to rebuke the words that are the slogan of Mr. Robinson's campaign.

BOY CHAINED CAUGHT.

Nichols, Who Keenly His Son Under Washbasin, Held in $500 Bail.

Peter Michetto, father of Rosario Michetto, the twelve-year-old boy found on Friday chained to a washbasin in his home at 32 Stanton street, was arrested yesterday and charged with unpairing the boy's legs and maiming of his son. In Essex Market court Magistrate Steinert held him in $500 bail for trial.

Michetto walked right up to the Children's Court yesterday looking for his son. There Agents Leggett and Crogan, who had spent Friday looking for him, arrested him. He is a short, swarthy Italian with a piratical moustache.

Michetto told Justice Wyatt, sitting in the Children's Court, he had never chained the boy up for more than two or three hours. He did it as a correction, Justice Wyatt sent him to Essex Market court, where he pleaded not guilty. The boy said his father bought the chain four or five years ago.

"Almost every night he chained me up," he said. "I got out for an afternoon and then he'd catch me and chain me up for a week. A year ago he kept me chained for six weeks at a stretch."

"My mother was kind to me. I've seen her leg with him when he was beating me. He'd shove her away."

"He never gave me anything to eat and when he was in a washbasin in his home, he was chained to it himself."

The chain used was five feet long with a brass lock on it.

BOMB WAS A GAS LEAK.

Every One Was Certain the Black Hand Had Wrecked Two Stores.

An explosion at 3 o'clock yesterday morning wrecked the grocery store of Quisen Raffaele at 610 Second avenue and blew out the front windows and door of R. Drillelli's millinery shop next door. The folk in the five-story tenement ran to the windows and the whole block was in an uproar over this indubitable work of the Black Hand.

In front of Raffaele's store was a hole in the pavement 18 inches wide. The police decided that the bomb had been thrown there. No one in the building would admit receiving Black Hand letters.

In the afternoon Mrs. Mary Smith of Briede, N. J., the owner of the house, sent her agent to investigate. He found the hole in the pavement he found an open space about 3 feet wide and 9 feet high. It was shut in by brick except for a small opening into the cellar.

Through this opening ran a gas pipe with a spot on it where a leak had been smoothed over with lead. The agent found, he says, that the repaired part looked very slightly. The bomb theory was dropped right there.

Raffaele has a helper named Tony whose regular habit is to sleep under a spread of canvas thrown over the fruit stand in front of the store. Last night he crept into the rear of the store to sleep. His change saved his life.
